

POLITICAL DEVELOPMENTS TO FRONT IN BALKANS

Course of Russian Campaign in Bukowina May Determine Attitude of Roumania.

Teutons Claim Russians Are Held Up Along Entire Front.

Bulgars Push Both Allied "Wings" Back.

Italians Claim Successes.

(Associated Press Cable.)

LONDON, AUGUST 23.—POLITICAL DEVELOPMENTS IN THE BALKANS OVERSHADOW IN INTEREST FOR THE MOMENT EVEN THE IMPORTANT MILITARY OPERATIONS IN PROGRESS THERE, BUT TODAY'S DISPATCHES THROW LITTLE NEW LIGHT ON THE SITUATION FROM EITHER A POLITICAL OR MILITARY STANDPOINT.

In connection with the attitude of Roumania, the course of the Russian campaign in Bukowina close to the Roumanian frontier is being closely watched.

The latest advices from Teutonic sources, however, declare that the Russians are being held up by the Teutonic resistance not only in the Carpathian fighting but along the entire front to the north in Galicia and Volhynia.

With Russian and Italian troops added to the French, British and Serbian forces already in the field, the Allies have a formidable array of fighting men on this front.

So far, however its strength has not been exerted to any market effect.

The Bulgarians have pushed both wings back, and it is only in the center in the Vardar Valley that Entente advances have been scored.

It seems not improbable that this region, which offers superior railroad facilities, has been selected as the main avenue along which the Entente forces will make their thrust.

On the western front along the Somme the British continue closing in on Thiepval, on their left flank, and apparently have Guillemont, on their right, almost within their grip.

South of the Somme, the French are being forced to fight hard for retention of the trenches captured early this week in the vicinity of Estres, and Paris reports today that the Germans, through a strong counter attack, were able to gain a footing in their former trenches.

The Italians are continuing passive in the Gorizia area, so far as their infantry is concerned, but their artillery is showing marked activity, while the work of consolidating the ground won east and southeast of the town is being completed.

The Italians report the capture of important Austrian positions on the Tofana Heights.

The Turks, who recently have been pressing the Russians hard in southern Turkish Armenia, have also attempted an offensive along the Black Sea coast, but Petrograd reports today that they were foiled in this movement and were driven back with the aid of the Russian Black Sea fleet.

PREPARATIONS FOR DEPARTURE GOING FORWARD

Cars for Transporting Troops Arrive at Camp Willis.

Officers Expect to Move Soon.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, O., August 23. — All the cars necessary for the movement of the soldiers at Camp Willis to the border have arrived in Columbus, it was announced today, and officers declare the troops will leave as soon as the danger of a railroad strike is passed.

There are three trains for each regiment, it is stated, and provision has been made for Pullmans for the officers and tourist sleepers for the men.

The trains are completely equipped with kitchen cars, insuring proper food for the men on their way south.

SHIP TONNAGE LOSS OF ALLIES

(Associated Press Cable.)
Berlin, August 23 — The German Admiralty issued today a statement asserting that the losses of the British and French navies in line-of-battle ships and cruisers to August 1 comprised 72 vessels with a total displacement of 496,050 tons.

The German losses in the same classes during the same period were 25 warships with a total of 62,667 tons, the statement said.

VOLUNTEER TARS ON SEA HIKE LEARN EVERY ANGLE OF SEAMAN'S DUTY

ON THE CIVILIAN TRAINING CRUISE

They are men-of-war-men now, have embarked on the civilian training cruise of the United States navy.

They rise at 5 o'clock to the ho-sun's pipe, tumbling out of their hammocks six feet to the floor. They lash their hammocks in the required nautical way with the required number of hitches. Then they roll up their broad legged sailor pants to the knees and swab down the decks with cold sea water. They polish brass and wash paint as though their existence depended on the job. It might be funny to see a man whose fortune runs to millions shining brass in a way that would not earn him $2 a day. Yet you know that brass polishing is not his goal. That is incidental to the larger work of being prepared to help on a big man-of-war in time of danger. 1 and 2, volunteer tars learning to use range finder and rapid fire gun; No. 3, Gordon Bell, Wall street lawyer, swabbing deck of Maine.

EMPLOYEES RESTLESS BECAUSE LONG DELAY FIRM STAND

Leaders of Men Becoming Fearful of Their Ability to Hold Them Longer Pending Negotiations Between President and Railroad Executives.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, August 23.—The railroad employees' committee showed such marked signs of unrest today at the delay in the negotiations between President Wilson and the railway executives that the leaders of the men were alarmed and openly expressed fears of their ability to hold them much longer.

An employees' meeting this morning was thrown into an uproar by speeches of a minority which demanded immediate action unless roads accept the President's plan, but the leaders succeeded in adjourning it before any vote could be taken on the various proposals.

Some of the men urged that most of them go home, leaving the brotherhood heads with authority to call a strike if the railroads do not accept the President's plan.

The meeting adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

LEE'S STATEMENT

Elisha Lee, chairman of the managers' committee, issued a statement this afternoon saying that if the demands of the train employees were granted, it would add fully a hundred million dollars a year to the operating expenses of the roads.

He said he made the statement to clarify the public mind of this phase of the matter.

Refusal of Men to Go Back to Work Results in Revocation of Charter.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Athens, Ohio, August 23 — One hundred and seventy-five miners employed by the New York Coal Co., here, who struck because the company would not discharge John Murphy, mine boss, and who refused to go back to work when ordered to do so by John P. White, international president of the miners' organization, today are non-union men.

The charter of their local union has been revoked by President White, who yesterday told the men to return to their work or he would take the action carried out today.

Five hundred other miners who struck in sympathy are still out today. It is said they will probably meet the same action on the part of President White.

BILL BACK TO PRESIDENT

Appropriation Bill, Objections Eliminated, Passed By Senate.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, August 23. — The army appropriation bill with revised articles of war approved by the War Department passed today by the Senate and now goes back to the House, where it is expected the amendment will be accepted.

President Wilson vetoed the bill before because the revision on the bill's previous passage gave exemption to retired officers, which the War Department disapproved.

DAHL-CAMPBELL BRANCH PLANS GREATEST OF ALL LAKE TRIPS

Two Thousand Mile Cruise in Luxurious and Exclusive Liners on Four of the Great Lakes Included in Trip Outlined By Progressive Head of Dahl-Campbell Branch, Who Is Home From Taking Options for Magnificent Outing.

DAY AND NIGHT IN CHICAGO A FEATURE OF PROPOSED OUTING FOR NEXT SUMMER

Plan for Obtaining Tickets Similar to That of This Year and Customers and Consumers Will Be the Lucky Ones—Saving Labels Is Already Under Way—Mr. Campbell Highly Complimented By Delighted Patrons—Other Points Being Investigated.

Mr. W. M. Campbell of the Dahl-Campbell Branch is home from a week on the lakes where he has taken options for the greatest and most inviting lake trip the firm has ever undertaken—a trip which includes a 2,000 mile cruise on four of the big lakes, aboard the most luxurious and exclusive ships on the lakes, with a day and night in Chicago, stops at Macinac and other points, a trip through the Famous "Soo"; with plenty of sightseeing, enjoyment and opportunity to rest, and in fact everything the heart could wish during an entire week. If satisfactory railroad arrangements between points in their territory and the Great Lakes can be made, the deal may be closed within the next few weeks. In the meantime other points such as Thousand Islands, eastern cities and shore resorts are to be investigated.

Under present plans the Twenty-first Annual Outing of the firm will be "a 2,000 mile trip for 2,000 customers and consumers," with the party leaving here Monday, June 18, 1917, and returning the following Saturday evening, the only railroad part of the entire trip being that from this city to some point to be selected on the lakes.

Trip An Ideal One.

Going from this city to the lake the party would step from the trains to the North American and South American steamers—new and monster vessels recently constructed at a cost of $1,500,000 each and devoted entirely to high class passenger traffic.

Leaving the starting point on the water the party would sail across Lake Erie, through the beautiful Detroit River, past Detroit, past Belle Isle, across pretty little lake St. Clair, and up the picturesque St. Clair river to Lake Huron, skirting Georgian Bay on the Canadian side, thence across the lake past countless beautiful islands and up the ever lovely St. Mary's river, through the locks of the "Soo" and into Lake Superior—northernmost of the Great Lakes.

After a cruise in Lake Superior the vessels return through the "Soo" and round through the Straits of Macinac, stopping for half day or more to enjoy the beauties at Macinac Island, the most beautiful and popular island resort of the Great Lakes. Here visits may be made to the big hotels, fort, pretty drives in the elegant parks and the numerous amusements. It is a real beauty spot. Leaving Macinac Island the party sails southward the full length of shimmering Lake Michigan to Chicago, second largest city in the United States.

A night and day would be spent in Chicago, where splendid entertainment would be provided, including a 25 mile tour of the city, over the noted boulevards, through the lovely parks, old world's fair grounds, shopping district, with visits to the mammoth stores and numerous places of note. The party then would leave on the delightful return trip, traversing the entire lake, past Macinac, down through western Lake Huron and over the ever-beautiful route from thence to the starting point and back home.

By day most of the cruise is made near lovely isles and shore and by night the glorious moonlight would add to the enchantment of the cruise.

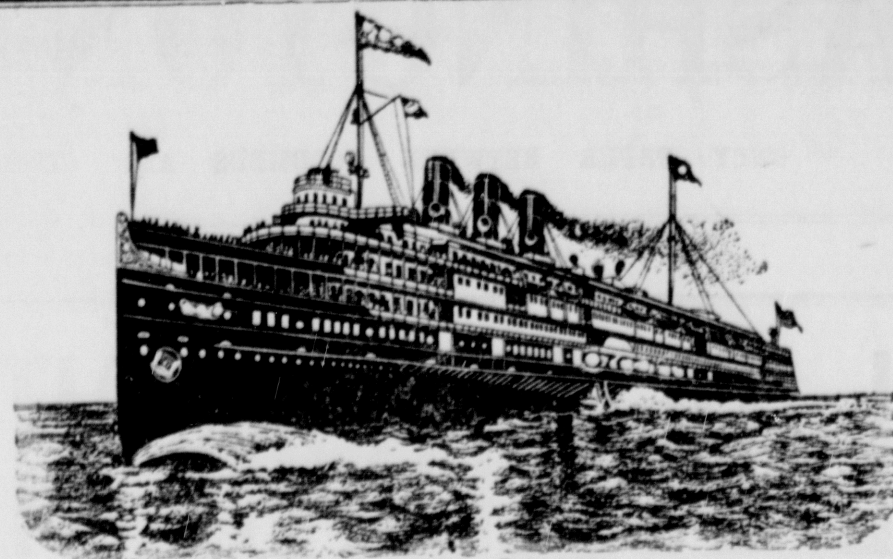

Luxurious Liners.

The two magnificent liners, North American and South American, are the greatest and most luxuriously furnished of any on the Lakes, and carry no freight. Options have been taken on the boats for two weeks, the Dahl-Campbell party making the first trip and Moneypenny-Hammond Branch the second week.

Each of the big liners is allowed by the government to carry 3500 passengers, but only 500 will be placed on each vessel so that all may enjoy every luxury and comfort that one could wish. There will not be a dull moment aboard the boats or during the entire trip.

Six times around the promenade deck and one has walked a mile. The spacious dining room accommodates all at two sittings, and a meal is served in 45 minutes. Every state room is an out side room. There are five decks for passengers, mammoth ball room, full orchestra, cozy lounging rooms, children's play room. Each boat has a crew of 152, carries 300 tons of coal and burns 60 tons daily. Ice plant and refrigerating plant on each boat. Water filtered and sterilized. Equipped throughout with sanitary drinking fountains containing ice water. Special engines which eliminate vibration. No rock to boat and no seasickness. There are entertainment halls with special programs provision for card parties, dancing and other amusement with experts in charge. Wireless equipment in perfect working order. Only boats on lakes having girls to wait table.

Children To Go.

Provision will be made for taking children five to twelve years of age at half fare, so that entire families may enjoy this most delightful and greatest of all lake trips.

Special Trains.

As usual special trains will be used in transporting the big party of customers and consumers from various points in the district to the starting point on the lake.

Trip Will Be Free.

The trip will be free to customers purchasing a certain amount of goods, and to consumers who save labels from the popular brands of "Sweet Brier", "American Beauty" and "Red Bird" goods, and who may pay part in cash should sufficient labels not be secured. All are urged to begin now and save labels. However, many of the consumers who were parties to the memorable trip this year are already saving labels for the peerless lake trip of next year. Tickets will be on virtually the same basis as last year provided ing satisfactory arrangements for the trip are closed. This will be determined in September.

Easy Trip To Take.

The trip outlined and conducted as the firm always conducts its outings, could be taken by a child without difficulty, as all baggage is looked after, expenses paid, and in fact everything done to relieve one of tiresome details. The trip will be easy and restful as only such a trip can be.

Patrons Delighted.

A few patrons who have learned of the great trip planned by Mr. Campbell for next year are very enthusiastic over the prospect of such an inviting and pleasurable outing, and are unstinted in expressing their appreciation of his choice. Not only does the trip offer a week of genuine enjoyment and real happiness, but it is one of great educational value and will also be of more restful nature than any previous trip.

Only those who have been on the Great Lakes can appreciate the meaning of such a trip, where no scorching weather is encountered, but where there is an invigorating breeze which puts care and weariness to flight and at night brings refreshing and restful slumbers to all.

HUNT BUILDING IS PURCHASED ADD HARDWARE DEPARTMENT WILL ERECT NEW STRUCTURE

Dahl-Campbell Branch Closes Three Big Deals and Will Have Entire Block of Buildings With Nearly 200,000 Feet of Floor Space for Wholesale Business.

EACH OF 5 BIG DEPARTMENTS EQUIVALENT TO HUGE STORE

New Hunt Block to Be Used for Complete Line of Jobbers Hardware—New Building 64 By 165 Feet to Be Erected—To Handle Auto Accessories

Simultaneously with announcing that the Dahl-Campbell Branch has purchased the big three-story Hunt block adjoining the firm's main building, comes further announcement of the company's intention to erect a modern structure 64 by 165 feet on the corner lot south of the Hunt block, and the addition of a new hardware department carrying a full line of jobbing hardware and also a complete line of automobile supplies and accessories.

The magnitude of these big deals becomes apparent when it is known that the square footage of floor space will be increased from 109,100 at the present time to upward of 200,000 square feet of floor space, giving abundant room for the rapidly growing firm to add the new department, and enlarge the present departments and marking a new epoch in the enterprise of the firm.

The purchase of the R. C. Hunt building gives the firm a half block front on Main street, and a similar amount of ground west of the alley back of the main building, all being covered with buildings except the corner lot recently purchased and which formerly was the Imperial Hotel site but has been unoccupied since the great fire which swept that portion of the city Dec. 30, 1911.

The Hunt block is a fire-proof structure, 56 by 165 feet, and has three stories and basement, the second floor being occupied by the Elks who it is understood, will not be disturbed.

Proper connections will be made between the new building and the present quarters, and also under the new building to be erected, so that continuous passage may be had under all buildings, as well as through all buildings. The newly purchased building will afford tens of thousands of square feet additional storage room.

It is understood the mammoth line of hardware to be placed in stock will occupy this big structure.

The New Building.

The new structure to be erected in the very near future will join the newly purchased block on the south, front on Main street and be immediately north of the Pennsylvania station and freight depot.

It will be modern throughout and fire-proof. The basement will be used for storage purposes, the first floor for garage purposes, and the floors above will in all probability be used for a great line of automobile supplies and accessories, so that dealers may find what they desire in short order.

The entire structure is to be carefully planned and every facility added to make it complete in detail.

In the garage the numerous monster delivery trucks and trailers which the firm recently has added to its facilities for accommodating its customers at all points, will be kept and cared for when not in use, and the numerous machines of the traveling men also will be sheltered and cared for in the completely equipped garage.

A railroad switch will be constructed along the south side of the building and another switch extended running between the Hunt building and new building, offering every facility for handling goods both incoming and outgoing.

Complete Hardware Stock.

In adding the hardware and all that goes with hardware to its huge stock, the Dahl-Campbell Branch takes a great forward step which is expected to meet with the hearty approval of all customers, and it is the fifth separate and complete department. The other departments are Groceries, Notions, Fruits and Confectionery.

It is the plan of the management to make all departments still more complete than ever before, and to have the largest and best stock of hardware of any wholesale hardware house in central Ohio.

This stock will be kept thoroughly up-to-the-minute and like the other departments, will be in the hands of competent men, and men who know hardware.

Five Big Stores In One.

It is Mr. Campbell's plan to make each department a big wholesale house in itself and by combining the five departments under one head eliminate heavy overhead charges and thus sell to the retailer at rock bottom prices.

New Salesman.

Mr. Charles Householder, formerly with the Ballard-Ford Hardware Company has been employed as traveling hardware salesman of the firm.

Main Building Dahl-Campbell Branch With Part of Newly Purchased Hunt Building on Left Which Will Be Devoted to New Hardware Department. New Building Will Be Erected on South Side of Building Just Purchased.

The Eight-hour Day

The fact, developed in the present acute disagreement between the railroads and their employees, that the eight hour day is not universally observed by all the railroads, comes as a surprise to a great many people.

In many states of the Union the eight hour day is recognized and established by law and, now days, the employers who insist on a longer working day than eight hours are the exception.

In the states where no legislation on the subject exists, established custom has fixed the working day at eight hours with a certainty attaining, practically, the dignity of legislative enactment.

The employees of the railroads from the highest to the lowest post of duty should not be overworked. The nervous strain to which they are subjected makes them peculiarly and particularly a class to which should be extended every aid possible to consistent work.

The value of property entrusted to their care totals billions and every hour in the twenty-four of every day in the year the lives of millions of people depend upon their alertness and upon the proper discharge of their duty. For an engineer, fireman, conductor, breakman, crossing watchman, gate tender, or switchman even the common laborer who taps the car wheels with a hammer at the division stations, to sleep or become inattentive to his work is a danger to the lives of those who travel.

It is amazing, when we come to consider it, that the railroads, in view of the existing legislation and established custom, should insist on arbitration of that point in the dispute. Other disagreements, such as wage, can very properly be left for settlement to arbitration, but public sentiment, public demand, public custom and legislation have fixed the hours of the day of work at eight.

It is really astonishing that the railroad companies ever allowed that matter to enter into the controversy at all.

War and Diplomacy

One of the most remarkable situations developed by the war in Europe is the declaration of war by Italy against Austria, while diplomatic relations existing between Italy and Germany remain unsevered and apparently as cordial as they were prior to Italy's entrance in the conflict.

So far Italy has confined its campaigns against Austria and has sought only the invasion of Austrian territory and clashed only with the troops of Emperor Francis Joseph.

There are thousands of German soldiers battling with the Austrians and there are hundreds of German officers in charge of Austrian troops, but by some fine spun diplomatic operation and contruction of international law, peaceful relations have been maintained between Germany and Italy.

The attacks of Italian armies against the Austrians have deprived Germany of the great assistance, which Austria, freed from these attacks, would be able to render her ally and thus, almost directly, is Italy arrayed against Germany.

The active participation of Italy in the Balkans offensive now launched will doubtless bring on a clash between the troops of Italy and the troops of the Kaiser.

In the Balkans, Germany's armies are engaged under the standards of the empire, they are not there as mere soldiers in the armies of another nation, but as German army units.

How Italy can be of assistance to the Allies in the Balkans without clashing with Germany seems impossible now.

The keen diplomacy which averted the declaration of war by Italy or by Germany seems now about useless.

The results thus far accomplished, however, are proof of how nations can avoid war if they desire to do so.

Summer Colds

One of the, seemingly, inexplicable ills to which humans are heir during these protracted hot, dry spells, is a summer cold.

Right now there are a great many people suffering from summer colds—the prevalence of the malady has attained almost to the dignity of a small sized epidemic in this section.

Just how and where anyone can "catch cold" this sort of weather is a mystery which sweltering humanity would like to have solved.

The general understanding is that "colds" come from draughts of cool air. Perhaps that is not the correct theory, according to recognized medical authorities. To express it more emphatically, perhaps our good friends the physicians would stamp that idea as the purest nonsense.

Well, be that as it may, there are thousands of people, hereabouts, who have been searching diligently for draughts and cool spots for several weeks now and the only thing they have succeeded in "catching" was a cold and in catching cold they have no recollection of passing through any cool places or noticeable draughts.

But no matter what causes a summer cold, whether the common understanding or medical theory is correct, about the most annoying ailment of the hot spell is a cold in the head.

The hot weather is enough, in itself, to drive one distracted and when one is compelled to add the tortures of a cold, it's small wonder that many angelic dispositions are strained almost to the point of giving away.

Poetry For Today

MEMORIES.

Then come his sister and his village friend
And he will now the sweetest moments spend.
He goes through shrubby walks these friends among
Love in their looks and honors on their tongue;
Nay, there's a charm beyond what nature shows,
The bloom is softer and more sweetly glows;
Pierced by no crime and urged by no desire
For more than true and honest hearts require.
They feel the calm delight, and thus proceed
Through the green lane,—then linger in the mead,—
Stray o'er the heath in all its purple bloom,—
And pluck the blossom where the wild bees hum;
Then through the broomy bound with ease they pass
And press the sandy sheep-walk's tender grass.
Where dwarfish flowers among the grass are spread
And the lamb browses by the linnet's bed;
Then 'cross the bounding brook they make their way
O'er its rough bridge—and there behold the bay!
The ocean smiling to the fervid sun
The waves that faintly fall and slowly run—
The ships at distance and the boats at hand;
And now they walk upon the sea-side sand,
Counting the number, and what kind they be,
Ships softly sinking in the sleepy sea.

Making the Little Farm Pay

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

Owners of small farms have taken up the question of beef production. There is a decided movement in favor of meat animals in the central west, and the educational effort now going forward is bound to have a good effect.

This is a profitable branch of farming in more ways than one. Meat values are on such a high basis that farmers can more than double their money on beef where they raise their own stock. Beef raising disposes of fodder and grain to the best advantage, keeps up soil fertility and adds a large cash income to the revenues of the farm.

"I saved $7 on every calf I raised for the baby beef feed lot last year," said L. D. White of Union county, Ia. "Besides, they had more quality, more ability to lay on fat and more feeding capacity than any I could buy."

The owner of a small farm who has equipped his place with a silo and established a field of alfalfa can profitably handle a carload of beef cattle every year. If he cannot breed so many on the place he is always able to buy calves from dairy farmers in the neighborhood. The aim at first should be to produce a carload of marketable stock. Where the farm is 100 to 200 acres there is nothing to hinder the owner raising two or three carloads in a year, but it is best to set the mark at one load for the first season. This branch of business requires a little experience, just as everything else does.

With this program adopted a farmer starting out in beef production should try to prepare a lot of top notch animals that will average 1,000 pounds at the age of twelve to fifteen months. If the right kind of stock is used and there is good success in fattening, top figures in the market will be secured. The careful manager will soon find that he can produce the first 1,000 pounds of beef much more cheaply than he can add to this weight. My observation shows that the real profits are in marketing beef animals at an age not exceeding two years. This is turning over the money pretty fast, and by making it a rule to market the stock at an early age one can afford to govern the selling by the tone of the market.

As farmers gain in skill they will find it an easy matter to furnish a fine quality of baby beef. This is accomplished by the selection of suitable calves and a wise system of feeding. No point in the business is more important than that of starting with the right kind of young stock. Then it is only a question of forcing growth by skillful handling. Men who have dairies are able to secure a uniform bunch of young animals, as a rule, but if they fall short of the required number in starting a beef herd with uniformity they will always be able to find native stock to meet their needs. Generally speaking, it is unwise to bring in feeders. Young stock shipped from remote points cost more than they are worth these days, and the transportation units them for maturing rapidly. They don't begin to measure up with stock that gets its start in the neighborhood. A little observation of the market will astonish many farmers who do not know the demand for high quality baby beef and the profit there is in supplying it.

The small farmers of the central west only need to look into the matter of concentrated feeding to realize that they are able to take advantage of the high prices for meat animals. It will pay to restrict the pastures and depend more on alfalfa, silage, roots and concentrated feeds. More can be accomplished on a farm of 50 to 100 acres than is generally understood. The problem is one of management. The opportunity is one of the most attractive that American farmers have ever had presented to them. If they believe in diversity and in business farming one of the first steps they should take is to engage in beef production up to the full capacity of their land.

Korea's Diamond Mountain.
Kongosan, known among foreigners by the name of Diamond mountain, is an extraordinary cluster of innumerable peaks in the east-central part of Korea. It is part of a great mountain range forming the backbone of the Korean peninsula and stands in the northeastern part of Kangwon province. The system is about fifty miles in circumference, occupying an area of more than twenty-five square miles. The peaks, reputed to number 12,000, are entirely formed of granite and tower high in the air, with dense forests on their sides and at their base. All the peaks are extremely rugged and grotesque in form, and it is impossible to scale many of them, as they rise nearly straight into the sky, while their slippery sides furnish no foothold.

A professor of English in a western college was once criticizing the following lines from Campbell's "Ye Mariners of England":
The meteor flag of England
Shall yet terrific burn.
Th' danger's troubled night depart
And the star of peace return.
"The star of peace," he pointed out, "could not return after night had departed," for stars, as a general rule, do not shine during the day.
"If you were struck hard enough between the eyes you would see stars any old time," suggested the witty member of the class.
"That is quite true," replied the professor, "but it would not be the 'star of peace.'"

WATER SUPPLY IS VERY SHORT IN THIS CITY

Company Management Orders All Street and Lawn Sprinkling Stopped at Once Until Drought Is Passed—Plan for Abundant Supply Next Year.

In a published notice to the public, The Washington Water Company calls attention to the shortage of the city's water supply and the necessity of abolishing all street and lawn sprinkling and stopping all leaking faucets in order that there will be sufficient water for ordinary use, and the company further states that the new order must be observed until the drought is relieved and the torridity becomes less.

For several weeks the water supply has been dwindling and this in the face of efforts to obtain a greater supply than that of previous years, so that the management has devised a plan which has been approved by the State Board of Health, for constructing a new and larger dam across the creek and holding a large reserve of water above the wells of the company, so that the supply may be abundant at all times. The water in the creek, of course, would be filtered through the earth and sand to the various wells, just as it does under ordinary conditions.

At the present time the creek is very low above the dam, and the amount of water filtering from it is exceedingly small. With the ever increasing demands of the city, and the heavy excess usage due to intensely hot and dry weather, the demands have been coming so close to using the entire supply that drastic measures were necessary on the part of the company to insure sufficient water for ordinary use.

Citizens are now looking to the Water Company to have its plant prepared for such an emergency next year. Dry periods during the past few years has found the company not able to furnish an abundance of water for all purposes.

The company expects the new dam and additional wells will solve the problem for several years to come.

COOLER WEATHER REFRESHING RAIN

There was a drop of 32 degrees in the temperature between 4:30 Tuesday afternoon and 4:30 Wednesday morning, and the change was a delight to everyone. The mercury hovered above 90 degrees Tuesday afternoon.

The cooler weather started late in the afternoon and with showers in surrounding territory, the mercury continued to drop and reached 66 at midnight and 58 at 4:30 Wednesday morning.

Not only did the cool wave come but it brought a most refreshing rain during the night.

The cooler weather is expected to last for several days. Rains are also expected in that time.

MANY WATCH WORK OF BULL TRACTOR

Quite a crowd of interested farmers assembled at the Fred Hamm farm on the Robinson road, Tuesday and Wednesday, to watch the Bull Tractor gang plow at work, with Adam Hamm & Son of Chillicothe in charge.

The plow turns two fourteen inch furrows and moves along steadily regardless of the hard, dry soil, interesting all who saw it with its power and rapid work.

It is stated that it requires about 60c worth of gasoline and oil to plow an acre of ground in ordinary condition.

The tractor gang plow is now being used extensively on the larger farms and there is every reason to believe its popularity will increase rapidly.

ANOTHER ENJOYABLE OPEN AIR CONCERT

Another thoroughly enjoyable band concert was given by the Washington band, Tuesday evening and a large crowd assembled for the entertainment.

The weather was perfect, an invigorating western breeze making the evening one of the most comfortable in two months, and adding to the enjoyment of the concert.

As usual the band received hearty applause and was commended for its good work.

Mr. Lee Rodgers again favored the listeners with a pleasing cornet solo and responded to an encore.

BOARD MEMBER TO MEET LOCAL MEN

As result of a visit to Columbus, this week, by a committee of the Fayette Fish & Game Protective Association, Dr. Kurgan, of Cincinnati, member of the State Board of Agriculture will meet the association in this city in the near future and it will be determined whether the prosecutions against ten men charged with illegal fishing will be pushed or dropped.

At the present time the Fayette Association almost to a man favors prosecuting the ten men, believing that such action should be taken to protect the finny tribe in Fayette streams.

However definite action will be taken at the meeting within the next ten days, and the matter which has been pending for several weeks will be disposed of one way or the other.

INVEST IN WASHINGTON REAL ESTATE

Washington Real Estate Dealers Point Out Why Now Is a Good Time to Invest.

One of the leading real estate firms of this city states that already there are strong indications of increased activity in real estate matters in Washington C. H. and Fayette county this fall. They put it in this way.

"The present high prices being paid for all the products of the farm, with indications of still higher prices in the near future, surely means that Fayette county, one of the greatest corn producing counties in the United States, to say nothing of the other splendid crops she produces, is bound to remain a most desirable spot for investment in lands.

"And Washington C. H., as the county seat of this rich agricultural county, must prosper and develop along with the county. Her railroads and streets, many of which are now being permanently improved; her public school system, churches, lodges, factories, business places and beautiful homes, are sure to continue to make this city one of the safest and most desirable places for rental investments and the ideal place in which to live.

"Any little letting up of the assured growth of this city must, in the very nature of things, be only temporary, and it seems to those on the inside that soon again we will see a new spirit of growth take hold of our city. We have in the past few years practically outgrown all our neighboring cities of similar size.

"There never was a better time for those who have a few hundred or a few thousand dollars laid by for safe investment to invest in Washington C. H. property than right now. Prices are reasonable and there are real bargains obtainable. Many families will move to this city within the next few months.

PAINT STREET IS GIVEN A SWEEPING

Late Tuesday evening some two score or more residents of Paint street between North and Delaware streets, got busy with brooms and shovels removing the layer of sand which the contractors had sprinkled over the paving while the grouting was "green," so that when the street is opened this week the passing vehicles will not stir up the fine sand into clouds of dust as on some of the other newly paved streets.

In a remarkably short time nine-tenths of the street had been cleared of the sand. Most of those who have not removed the sand will probably do so within the next 24 hours.

MEDICAL WATERS AT MADISON MILLS

There is a sulphur spring on the Harrison pike immediately west of Madison Mills which is attracting considerable attention because of the medical properties of the water.

The spring, which a few years ago was given a concrete curb at the expense of the county, is at the edge of a small stream, and because of the medical waters it contains, is a much visited spot, and a number of persons from this city make one or more trips each week for a supply of the famous water.

Those who use the water claim that it is as beneficial as some of the most famous sulphur waters.

NOTICE TO CONSUMERS

The continued hot weather and drought has so curtailed the water supply that The Washington Water Company finds it absolutely necessary to suspend all sprinkling privileges until the condition is relieved. Waste of water by running taps will also have to be stopped in order to give domestic and sanitary service. These measures are imperative.

AN EQUINE HERO.

Story of Old Baldy, One of the Most Famous Horses in History.

The head of one of the most famous horses in history hangs mounted on a shield in the headquarters of George G. Meade post in Philadelphia. It is that of Old Baldy, General Meade's mount in the operations of the armies of the Potomac and Virginia. The horse was raised in the west and was brought east by Colonel E. D. Baker of Oregon, who was killed at Ball's Bluff on Oct. 21, 1861. General Meade bought him in Washington for $150.

The horse was wounded in the nose by a piece of shell at the battle of Bull Run on July 21, 1861, but was not put out of service. He served at Dranesville, Mechanicsville, Gaines Mills and Groveton and was wounded again at the second battle of Bull Run, on Aug. 30, 1862, when he was shot through a hind leg.

Two weeks later he was ridden at the battle of South Mountain, and on Sept. 17 he was shot through the neck at the battle of Antietam and was abandoned, apparently dying. He was afterward found by General Meade's servant browsing on the battlefield. He had recovered sufficiently to serve General Meade in the October and November campaign to Falmouth. In 1863 he was at Chancellorsville during the first three days of May and at Gettysburg on July 1, 2 and 3. He was shot through the ribs on July 2.

He was in three other engagements that year, and in 1864 he was in the Wilderness campaign at Spottsylvania, North Anna Creek, Cold Harbor, Petersburg and several other places where there was hard fighting.

At the end of the war he was taken to General Meade's country place near Philadelphia, where he remained seven years. He was led in the great parade in Philadelphia on Dec. 16, 1879, in honor of General Grant's return from his tour of the world. He was later given to John J. Davis of Jenkintown.

who cared for him until it became necessary to kill him because he became too feeble to stand. This was on Dec. 16, 1882. He survived his famous master about ten years.—Philadelphia Ledger.

When Cats Were Sacred.

Scientists consider that the cat was introduced originally into Egypt from the south and that the credit of domesticating it belongs entirely to the inhabitants of that country. It is fortunate that the cat found its way into Europe at the time of the Roman supremacy, which, like other polytheistic systems, was in religious matters at least tolerant. Had it been confined to Egypt till the iconoclastic intrusion of the Moslems it might have been extirpated as a pagan object of worship. The Egyptians seem to have kept their cats in vast inclosures, and it is perhaps a trait of heredity which causes them to remain so faithful to a house in which they are domesticated. Whenever a house caught fire the chief care of the neighbors was to save the cats. The men and women might be burned in the ruins, but the cats were to be saved at all risks. When a cat died a natural death every inmate of the house shaved his eyebrows, and when a dog died they shaved all over.—Chambers' Journal.

An Accent That Survives.

The cockney has survived for many centuries in the midst of speech that is deemed more cultured. It is a curious fact that in the Bahama Islands, which were settled more than 200 years ago by Londoners, the cockney speech is as strong as it is in Cheap-side.

In Social Circles

On Tuesday evening, August 22nd the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Craig was the scene of a pretty and quite wedding which united their charming daughter, Carrie, to Mr. Charles Kelley Knight, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Just at twilight Rev. Gage led the bridal party in to the strains of the Lohengrin march played by Mrs. J. B. Rogers. The double ring ceremony, beautiful and impressive, was used.

Only the family and a few intimate friends were present.

The fair-haired bride was most becomingly dressed in white georgette crepe over silk with trimming of taffeta and silver lace.

Her traveling suit was of navy blue taffeta.

The bride is a graduate of Washington High school and later a student at the Ohio University, at Athens, where she became acquainted with the groom.

She has been a faithful and efficient worker in the Presbyterian church and Sunday school, and will be greatly missed by the many friends who extend best wishes for happiness and prosperity in the new home.

The groom is a graduate of Ohio University, class of 1912, and received the degree of Master of Arts from the same institution in 1913. He later attended the graduate school of the University of Illinois, as a student in economics.

During the past year Mr. Knight has served as an instructor in economics in the Pennsylvania State College; he at present holds a similar position in the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, with the Academic rank of Instructor.

Mr. and Mrs. Knight left Tuesday evening for a lake trip, after which they will make their home in Philadelphia.

The pretty Stokesbury bungalow on the Waterloo pike was the scene of a very attractive musicale Tuesday afternoon when the only daughter of the house, Miss Roberta, made her debut as a young vocalist, assisted by Miss Frances Blackmore, reader, and Miss Ruth Reid accompanist.

The favored guests thoroughly appreciated a beautiful program taking special interest in the young singer who has been studying but a year under Miss Jessie Leavell.

Miss Stokesbury has a sweet clear soprano of real promise and has done a great deal with it during the short time of her training. Not only is the quality and range exceptional; she sings with temperament and offered to her guests a pleasing surprise.

Miss Ruth Reid did her always admirable work as accompaniment and Miss Frances Blackmore showed her ability in entertaining, readings.

The guests greatly enjoyed renewing acquaintance with Mrs. Murfin and also meeting her very pretty daughter.

A dainty summer collation was served.

Miss Gertrude Powell of Mt. Vernon, was also an out of town guest.

A tempting buffet lunch was served and punch all evening.

Mrs. Kibler and Miss Jessie Sunkle assisted in the evening's hospitalities.

The fortnightly Guild of the Presbyterian church was charmingly entertained at the Manse Wednesday afternoon. Entertaining with Mrs. Gage were Mesdames W. W. Millikan, J. L. Rothrock, G. W. Blakeley, Fannie P. Ballard.

BURTON ACORD IS ARRAIGNED

Burton Acord, aged about 24 years, was arraigned before Mayor Oster, Wednesday afternoon, upon a charge of uttering a forged check with the name of T. J. Junk signed to same, and passing the check at the Junk & Willett Hardware store in this city.

The young man was decidedly nervous over the affair, but entered a plea of not guilty and asked for a private talk with Chief of Police D. L. Moore, which was granted.

Marshall S. A. McNeal, of Frankfort and Mr. T. J. Junk of Austin were present. McNeal stated that he had arrested the young man upon complaint of Miss Martha Junk, of Frankfort, to whom he is alleged to have presented a forged check for $19, but which he did not have when arrested. He was released by Marshall McNeal after failure to find the check.

Mr. Junk exhibited three forged checks, one to "Carl Wilkins" for $25, cashed by Junk & Willett; one to "Fred Wilton" for $20, cashed at the Ford Hardware Company, and the third to "Frank Wolf," cashed by the Wiseler Hardware Company of Chillicothe.

Acord's trial was set for Friday afternoon at one o'clock.

ASSIGNED TASK TO EIGHT MEN

Reply to Wilson Plan to Be Drawn Up.
AGAIN AT WHITE HOUSE

Three Members of the Committee Following Conference See the President and Go Over the Rail Situation—Tendency Shown to Delay Negotiations—Developments at the Capital.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Eight railroad presidents were named to draft the reply to the railroads to President Wilson's appeal that they accept his plan for averting a nation-wide strike. The eight committeemen held a prolonged session without solving their problem. Later three of the committeemen, Hale Holden of the Burlington, R. S. Lovett of the Union Pacific and Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio, discussed the situation with President Wilson. They were at the White House for more than an hour, and on leaving declined to talk about their visit further than to say they had asked for the conference to "discuss the general situation" and expected to see the president again.

Although some of the sixty or more presidents are showing a disposition to prolong the negotiations in the hope that the sentiment of the business men of the country will be shown to be opposed to the idea of an eight hour day, there is a general feeling that a definite answer to President Wilson's demand can not be much longer postponed. The president is understood to have indicated that he desired his proposal to be fully debated by the executives, but their conferences among themselves have failed so far to develop any plan likely to win approval.

So far as the presidents would discuss the situation, they still are insistent upon an arbitration of the eight hour day and all other issues with their employees. As the conferences continued there was less talk of action which would lead to a strike, but some of the executives are expected to fight to the last ditch any plan which would force an eight hour day upon the roads without some form of arbitration.

It was understood the White House conference did not develop any actual plan, but that the three executives wished to get President Wilson's views on various phases of the matter so that they could be outlined to the rest of the committee. The executives are said to realize that Mr. Wilson can not recede from the position he has publicly taken, and some of them are convinced now that about all they can hope for is to come out with some concessions.

Among the more than 600 representatives of the railroad brotherhoods in Washington there is evident a feeling of restlessness and there are many inquiries of leaders as to how long they must remain. It is not expected that this feeling will lead to any open revolt unless the conferences between President Wilson and the executives are prolonged.

TWO MINISTERS

(By American Press)
Washington, Aug. 23.—William G. Sharp of Elvira, O., ambassador to France, arrived here, exactly two years from the time he left to assume the duties of his ambassadorial office. It is considered significant that Walter H. Page, ambassador to London, is here at the same time. Messrs. Sharp and Page had a long conference at the Shoreham hotel.

A party that had luncheon together at that hotel included the two ambassadors, Sharp and Page, Secretary of War Baker, Secretary of State Lansing, Secretary of Interior Lane and Attorney General Gregory. It is generally believed that some important conferences are staged to take place here bearing on the European war, but everybody concerned declines to talk. When asked how long the war probably would last Ambassador Sharp said: "That is entirely problematical, and no one seems to be in a position to know."

ARMY BILL REPASSED BY HOUSE

Revised Articles of War Are Eliminated.

BILL RUSHED TO SENATE

Military Committee to Restore Articles of War and Strike Out Hay Proposal to Exempt Retired Officers and Men From the Military Code. General Debate in Senate On the Emergency Revenue Bill.

Washington, Aug. 23.—The army appropriation bill, carrying $314,000,000, was repassed by the house without the revised articles of war, a feature which caused President Wilson to veto the measure.

The bill was hastened to the senate and there referred to the military committee.

Chairman Chamberlain announced that the committee would restore the articles of war, eliminating the Hay proposal to exempt retired officers and men from the military code, the provision objected to by the president. If a point of order is made and sustained against the articles in the senate, Senator Chamberlain will seek to retain them by a two-thirds vote.

Representative Hay has let it be known that he will not insist again upon his amendment. There are reports, however, that Republican Leader Mann may demand a quorum of the house to send the bill back to conference. Such a development might prolong the session of congress several days.

With Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, submitting figures designed to disprove Republican charges of Democratic extravagance, and Senator Smoot, Republican finance expert, asserting that the Democratic party should be convicted of attempting to procure votes under false pretenses, general debate on the $205,000,000 emergency revenue bill began in the senate.

Insisting that national defense preparedness and the Mexican situation were altogether responsible for the necessity of special revenue legislation and a proposed bond issue, Senator Simmons declared Republicans in congress had clamored for even greater expenditures for defense, and, having done this, were seeking partisan advantage by making false charges of Democratic extravagance to the public.

Senator Smoot, opening the Republican assault on the revenue bill, said if the Democratic party was to be retained in control of the government the country would suffer "an era of unqualified extravagance, combined with inefficiency unsurpassed." His attack was supported by Senator Curtis, who asserted that the burden of taxation should not be placed on the American people and that revenues should be raised by a protective tariff.

SPEAKER URGES CATHOLIC UNITY

(By American Press)

Would Bring Into Public Life Spirit of Tolerance.

New York, Aug. 23.—Catholic voters throughout the United States were urged at a mass meeting of the German Roman Catholic Centralverein here to unite and cast their influences at the polls "where it will best subserve the high and holy principles" for which Catholics stand.

James F. Zipt, president of the Gonzaga Union of St. Louis, who made the appeal, declared there were at least 3,000,000 Catholic voters in the country. Mr. Zipt asserted he was not contending for a religious party, but for an organization of Catholics to bring into public life a spirit of liberty and tolerance.

A resolution demanding that at the end of the world war the pope "be heard in the council of the nations for the securing and cementing of a permanent peace" was passed by the American Federation of Catholic societies at its convention.

A resolution passed by the Catholic Young Men's National union called upon members "to act as a unit in taking up preparedness," urged them to communicate with representatives in congress "in the effort to bring about real preparedness."

At the women's session Bishop P. J. Muldoon of Rockford, Ill., urged about 200 delegates to join every state, county and city civic movement in their communities.

DEMMY LEADERS FIX THE DATE

Platform Convention to Reconvene September 7.

Columbus, Aug. 23.—The new Democratic state executive committee, meeting here with Chairman W. L. Finley, tentatively fixed Sept. 7 as the date for the reconvening of the Democratic state platform convention.

Chairman Finley was authorized to change the date if by so doing there is a chance to secure the presence of President Wilson at the convention. When War Secretary Baker recently invited President Wilson to attend the convention here the president said he would be unable to be present. Members of the committee were greatly disappointed when this information reached them. They planned to open the national and state campaign simultaneously in Ohio, with a speech by the president as the opening gun.

GLORIA'S ROMANCE

By Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hughes

Novelized from the Motion Picture Play of the same name by George Kleine.

Copyright, 1916, by Adelaide M. Hughes

SYNOPSIS.

Pierpont Stafford, banker and railroad magnate, with his sixteen-year-old daughter, Gloria, is wintering at Palm Beach. Gloria is a vivacious but willful young lady who chafes under the restraining hand of a governess from whom she repeatedly escapes. Her childish capers cause young Doctor Royce to fall in love with her. She steals from her room at night and in an auto plunges into the surf, where she leaves the car. Becoming lost in the everglades she falls into the hands of the Seminole Indians. She is rescued and returned to her father, who had offered a reward for her return. Gloria falls in love with her rescuer, Freneau. Five years later she leaves school and meets Freneau at the theater; his attention having been occupied with her sister-in-law he has forgotten Gloria.

Gloria had counted on dancing the first dance with Mr. Freneau. She was so beset with wooers that he could not reach her. He was not the only man in New York willing to make love to the heiress of the Stafford wealth, who was, incidentally, dowered in her own right with a beauty and magnetism that would have meant a fortune to any girl.

Gloria tried to dodge the knatlike suitors: "May I have this dance? The next? The one after that, then?" They followed her among the pillars about the ballroom floor. They cornered her at last, and Dr. Royce confronted her. She was about to take him in desperation when she saw Freneau at her shoulder.

He was the man of men, but a sudden shyness overwhelmed her. Her betrothal to him had not yet been ratified again, and she was afraid to let everyone see her choose him. Her humid eyes caught sight of her father, who was smiling in the hope that there was security in numbers. She made a dive at him and made him her beau. Everybody admired her tactful choice; but Pierpont knew more about investments than about the fox trot, and he had more rheumatism in his muscles than grace. He made a sorry figure in the crowd of dancers, and finally collapsed in Royce's arms. Gloria giggled.

"I turn him over to you, doctor." Royce laughed till he saw that she surrendered herself to Freneau. Then he frowned. He was in a miserable dilemma. He could see that Freneau cast a spell over the young soul of Gloria, and he knew him to be unworthy of the girl's trust. Royce knew that Freneau was a cad. He had stolen from Royce the fruits of his victory over the Indian chief.

GAINS ARE MADE BY BULGARS

Push Back Allied Wings on Salonica Front.

LOSE GROUND IN CENTER

Serbian Apparently the Heaviest Losers, Having Been Forced Back On Their Extreme Left About Five Miles—Sharp Fighting On the Stokhod and in the Carpathians—German Warship Reported Sunk.

London, Aug. 23.—Both allied wings on the Salonica front have been bent back by the Bulgarians. In the center, however, where the allies' main effort is being made at the entrance to the great Vardar valley, Paris reports important gains.

Nothing is said about the Russian or Italian share in the fighting and no information has been given as to their strength. The Serbians apparently have been the heaviest losers and have been forced back on their extreme left about five miles from the Serbian-Greek frontier. They claim, however, continued progress on the other sections of their front.

On the allies' right, the British and French, who had crossed the Struma towards the Bulgarian frontier, have been forced back on the river. On the western front there has been little change. The British continue their efforts to surround Thelpeval and report the capture of 700 yards of German trenches in the direction of Martinpuich. There has been no action of importance on the French section.

For several days meager Russian reports have insisted that nothing of importance has occurred in the east. Berlin, however, describes very heavy fighting, both on the Stokhod and in the Carpathians. An interesting feature of the Russian official statement is the intimation that the Grand Duke Nicholas again is pressing his offensive in the Caucasus.

The British war department claims a heavy blow against Germany on the sea. The British submarine E-23 reports having attacked an 18,600-ton German battleship and the submarine's commander believes he sank it.

Berlin, Aug. 23.—Concerning the American note in the case of the steamer Owego, said to have been fired upon by a submarine in the Mediterranean, the statement was made that the German naval authorities have received no information of any sort in this connection, the American note being the first intimation here concerning the matter. Efforts are being made by the authorities, it was said, to clear up the case.

The Owego, having some Americans on board, reported having been fired upon ten times in the Mediterranean by a submarine early in the month.

WILSON VETOES BILL

THE WALTZ AGAIN

(By American Press)

Chicago, Aug. 23.—The old-fashioned dreamy waltz will supplant the acrobatic tango in the ballrooms of the nation, if the National Association of Dancing Masters has any influence. In convention here the dancing professors decreed that the tango must go. The waltz, the one-step and the fox-step will be the fashionable favorites this season.

French Expect Figure's Fall to Mark End of War.

London.—High overhead above the ruined and desolate streets of Albert, in France, the great gilded figure of the Virgin with the infant Christ still hangs from the tower of the Church of Notre Dame de Brebieres. For more than a year she has now hung thus at an angle of some fifteen degrees below the horizontal, face downward to the street below, holding the infant out above her head.

BLACK TAN WHITE

OFFICER SLAIN

(By American Press)

Columbus, Aug. 23.—Four auto bandits murdered Patrolman John Laufhutte, thirty-two. He was shot in the left lung and died later at St. Francis hospital. Patrolman Laufhutte accosted the bandits while they were repairing a puncture. The police are of the opinion that the officer called attention of the men to the absence of lights on their auto, a Ford, and probably asked them questions of a nature that led them to believe the policeman suspected them of being crooks. The men escaped.

HEAT CAUSES ADJOURNMENT

Catholic Societies Conclude Sooner Than Expected.

Officers Re-elected.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
New York, August 23.—The annual convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies adjourned today, 24 hours sooner than had been planned. The excessive heat was the cause for shortening the session.

John Whalen, of New York, the president, and practically all other officers were re-elected. The convention will meet in Kansas City, Mo., next year.

CLOSING ACTS

The executive committee of the national body was empowered to appoint a committee consisting of one bishop, two priests and three laymen to formulate plans for a Catholic chautauqua.

The constitution was changed to make representation in the national body on diocesan, rather than state, lines.

An address by the Reverend Francis Kelly, president of the Society for Catholic Church Extension in Mexico, declared that the religious question, and not agrarian difficulties, was the vexing problem in Mexico.

"The religious question—the real question—cannot be settled without the United States stepping in. Mexico cannot live without us."

HUGHES REACHES RENO, NEVADA

Enjoying a Day of Speech-making, Parades and Barbecue.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Reno, Nevada, August 23.—Charles E. Hughes reached Reno today for a day of parade, barbecue, receptions and speechmaking. He was met at the station by a brass band and a squad of cowboys and cowgirls, who escorted him to his hotel.

Later he went for an automobile ride about the city. At noon Mr. Hughes received a large delegation from the Nevada Woman's Party, after which Mr. Hughes and wife headed an automobile parade through the city to a park opposite the court house, where a western barbecue was on the program.

Ten beeves had been killed for the candidate, his party of about 40, the reception committee and invited guests.

All traffic was stopped on the main street during the barbecue and the speech which followed on the court house steps.

A second speech is to be delivered at 7 o'clock in a theater, and Mr. Hughes will leave at 9 o'clock for Ogden, Utah.

WILLIS ORDERS PROBE MADE

Will Sift Franklin County Tax Muddle to Bottom.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, O., August 23.—Governor Willis, in a telegram from Maine, where he is making campaign speeches, today ordered the State Tax Commission to probe the charges that the Franklin County Board of Revision had arbitrarily raised the taxes of the citizens of Columbus and Franklin county.

The state tax body immediately began an investigation.

County Auditor Valentine announced today that he would repudiate the alleged wholesale taxation boost and decline to place them on the duplicate.

It has been charged that the county board has arbitrarily raised the valuation on personal property, in some instances more than 50 per cent.

Governor Willis' telegram said that such increases as are alleged to have been made were not in harmony with the spirit of the new Parrett-Whittemore tax law, and that if any injustice had been done by the board it should be corrected.

GOOD HEALTH OF TROOPERS

General Pershing's Men Enjoy Good Health in Mexico.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Field Headquarters, American Punitive Expedition, Mexico, August 22.—Only six deaths from disease and a present sick rate of 1.5 per cent for the punitive expedition since it entered Mexico, more than five months ago, was the record contained in official figures given out here today by the sanitary department.

Adding the number of sick being treated at the base hospital to those in the field, the rate is increased to 2.5 per cent.

There has not been a single case of typhoid, the prevailing ailment being dysentery.

From available data it appears that the sick rate in the expedition is less than half that of the United States, according to General J. J. Pershing, commanding the expedition.

CARRIER PIGEONS FOR U. S. ARMY

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, N. M., August 23.—Carrier pigeons are the latest recruits to the United States army on the border. Fifty flyers, donated by the American Carrier Pigeon Association to the Army Signal Corps branch at Columbus, are enroute. It is purposed to take a number of them to Mexico and dispatch them to Columbus.

It is said atmospheric conditions on the border have rendered ground and wireless telegraph unreliable, and the use of the pigeons is to be given a thorough test.

DEFOE IN THE PILLORY.

When the Famous Writer Was Both Punished and Applauded.

The whipping post had as its companion 100 years or more ago, not in this country, but in England, the pillory. This punishment was ended by an act of the British parliament, dated June 30, 1837.

Perhaps the most famous sufferer at the pillory was a man who has delighted millions of English speaking boys and girls and many older persons by his book, "Robinson Crusoe," which was the precursor of juvenile books as we now know them. This sufferer was Daniel Defoe, who was not only a writer of entrancing fiction, but famous as a keen political pamphleteer.

In 1703, in the reign of Queen Anne, there came from his hand "a scandalous and seditious pamphlet," entitled "The Shortest Way With the Dissenters." A reward of £50 was offered by the government for the author, and rather than that his printer and publisher should suffer in his stead, Defoe gave himself up and was sentenced to be pilloried three times.

On July 29 of that year the daring satirist stood unabashed on the pillory in Cheapside. The punishment was repeated two days afterward in the Temple, where a sympathizing crowd flung garlands instead of garbage at the stout hearted pamphleteer, drank his health with loud acclaim and sang his "Hymn to the Pillory." In this hymn occur these lines:

Tell them the men that placed him here
Are scoundrels to the times;
Are at a loss to find his guilt
And can't commit his crimes.

Water Colors.

Pigments have been used from the earliest times and are now used by all savages for decorative purposes. But the paint used in Babylon and Nineveh and in Pompeii was composed of pigments mixed not with oil, but with water to which had been added a little glue, egg albumen or perhaps sometimes casein, which is albuminous matter from milk or the gluten from cereal grains. Glue, however, which was well known to the ancient Egyptians, was the most used binding material. Such paints are now known as fresco paints or water colors.

Mending Amber.

To mend amber requires a certain amount of care, though the process is a simple one. Apply some linseed oil to the broken edges and then hold the oiled parts over a gas jet, covering the rest of the amber meanwhile with a cloth. As soon as the oiled parts become sticky with the heat press the edges which are to be united together and hold them very carefully till cold. —Exchange.

POLITICAL DEVELOPMENTS TO FRONT IN BALKANS

Course of Russian Campaign in Bukowina May Determine Attitude of Roumania.

Teutons Claim Russians Are Held Up Along Entire Front.

Bulgars Push Both Allied "Wings" Back.

Italians Claim Successes.

(Associated Press Cable.)

LONDON, AUGUST 23.—POLITICAL DEVELOPMENTS IN THE BALKANS OVERSHADOW IN INTEREST FOR THE MOMENT EVEN THE IMPORTANT MILITARY OPERATIONS IN PROGRESS THERE, BUT TODAY'S DISPATCHES THROW LITTLE NEW LIGHT ON THE SITUATION FROM EITHER A POLITICAL OR MILITARY STANDPOINT.

In connection with the attitude of Roumania, the course of the Russian campaign in Bukowina close to the Roumanian frontier is being closely watched.

The latest advices from Teutonic sources, however, declare that the Russians are being held up by the Teutonic resistance not only in the Carpathian fighting but along the entire front to the north in Galicia and Volhynia.

With Russian and Italian troops added to the French, British and Serbian forces already in the field, the Allies have a formidable array of fighting men on this front.

So far, however its strength has not been exerted to any market effect.

The Bulgarians have pushed both wings back, and it is only in the center in the Vardar Valley that Entente advances have been scored.

It seems not improbable that this region, which offers superior railroad facilities, has been selected as the main avenue along which the Entente forces will make their thrust.

On the western front along the Somme the British continue closing in on Thiepval, on their left flank, and apparently have Guillemont, on their right, almost within their grip.

South of the Somme, the French are being forced to fight hard for retention of the trenches captured early this week in the vicinity of Estres, and Paris reports today that the Germans, through a strong counter attack, were able to gain a footing in their former trenches.

The Italians are continuing passive in the Gorizia area, so far as their infantry is concerned, but their artillery is showing marked activity, while the work of consolidating the ground won east and southeast of the town is being completed.

The Italians report the capture of important Austrian positions on the Tofana Heights.

The Turks, who recently have been pressing the Russians hard in southern Turkish Armenia, have also attempted an offensive along the Black Sea coast, but Petrograd reports today that they were foiled in this movement and were driven back with the aid of the Russian Black Sea fleet.

PREPARATIONS FOR DEPARTURE GOING FORWARD

Cars for Transporting Troops Arrive at Camp Willis.

Officers Expect to Move Soon.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, O., August 23. — All the cars necessary for the movement of the soldiers at Camp Willis to the border have arrived in Columbus, it was announced today, and officers declare the troops will leave as soon as the danger of a railroad strike is passed.

There are three trains for each regiment, it is stated, and provision has been made for Pullmans for the officers and tourist sleepers for the men.

The trains are completely equipped with kitchen cars, insuring proper food for the men on their way south.

SHIP TONNAGE LOSS OF ALLIES

(Associated Press Cable.)

Berlin, August 23. — The German Admiralty issued today a statement asserting that the losses of the British and French navies in line-of-battle ships and cruisers to August 1 comprised 72 vessels with a total displacement of 496,050 tons.

The German losses in the same classes during the same period were 25 warships with a total of 62,667 tons, the statement said.

VOLUNTEER TARS ON SEA HIKE LEARN EVERY ANGLE OF SEAMAN'S DUTY

ON THE CIVILIAN TRAINING CRUISE

They are men-of-war now, have embarked on the civilian train every one of the 2,000 recruits who are on the cruise of the United States navy.

They rise at 5 o'clock to the bosun's pipe, tumbling out of their hammocks six feet to the floor. They lash their hammocks in the required nautical way with the required number of litches. Then they roll up their broad legged sailor pants to the knees and swab down the decks with cold sea water. They polish brass and wash paint as though their existence depended on the job. It might be funny to see a man whose fortune runs to millions shining brass in a way that would not earn him $2 a day. Yet you know that brass polishing is not his goal. That is incidental to the larger work of being prepared to help on a big man-of-war in time of danger. 1 and 2, volunteer tars learning to use range finder and rapid fire gun; No. 3, Gordon Bell, Wall street lawyer, swabbing deck of Maine.

EMPLOYEES RESTLESS BECAUSE LONG DELAY

Leaders of Men Becoming Fearful of Their Ability to Hold Them Longer Pending Negotiations Between President and Railroad Executives.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, August 23. — The railroad employees' committee showed such marked signs of unrest today at the delay in the negotiations between President Wilson and the railway executives that the leaders of the men were alarmed and openly expressed fears of their ability to hold them much longer.

An employees' meeting this morning was thrown into an uproar by speeches of a minority which demanded immediate action unless roads accept the President's plan, but the leaders succeeded in adjourning it before any vote could be taken on the various proposals.

Some of the men urged that most of them go home, leaving the brotherhood heads with authority to call a strike if the railroads do not accept the President's plan.

The meeting adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

LEE'S STATEMENT

Elisha Lee, chairman of the managers' committee, issued a statement this afternoon saying that if the demands of the train employees were granted, it would add fully a hundred million dollars a year to the operating expenses of the roads. He said he made the statement to clarify the public mind of this phase of the matter.

The charter of their local union has been revoked by President White, who yesterday told the men to return to their work or he would take the action carried out today.

Five hundred other miners who struck in sympathy are still out today. It is said they will probably meet the same action on the part of President White.

DAHL-CAMPBELL BRANCH PLANS GREATEST OF ALL LAKE TRIPS

Two Thousand Mile Cruise in Luxurious and Exclusive Liners on Four of the Great Lakes Included in Trip Outlined By Progressive Head of Dahl-Campbell Branch, Who Is Home From Taking Options for Magnificent Outing.

DAY AND NIGHT IN CHICAGO A FEATURE OF PROPOSED OUTING FOR NEXT SUMMER

Plan for Obtaining Tickets Similar to That of This Year and Customers and Consumers Will Be the Lucky Ones—Saving Labels Is Already Under Way—Mr. Campbell Highly Complimented By Delighted Patrons—Other Points Being Investigated.

Mr. W. M. Campbell of the Dahl-Campbell Branch is home from a week on the lakes where he has taken options for the greatest and most inviting lake trip the firm has ever undertaken—a trip which includes a 2,000 mile cruise on four of the big lakes, aboard the most luxurious and exclusive ships on the lakes, with a day and night in Chicago, stops at Macinac and other points, a trip through the Famous "Soo"; with plenty of sightseeing, enjoyment and opportunity to rest, and in fact everything the heart could wish during an entire week. If satisfactory railroad arrangements between points in their territory and the Great Lakes can be made, the deal may be closed within the next few weeks. In the meantime other points such as Thousand Islands, eastern cities and shore resorts are to be investigated.

Under present plans the Twenty-first Annual Outing of the firm will be "a 2,000 mile trip for 2,000 customers and consumers," with the party leaving here Monday, June 18, 1917, and returning the following Saturday evening, the only railroad part of the entire trip being that from this city to some point to be selected on the lakes.

Trip An Ideal One.

Going from this city to the lake the party would step from the trains to the North American and South American steamers—new and monster vessels recently constructed at a cost of $1,500,000 each and devoted entirely to high class passenger traffic.

Leaving the starting point on the water the party would sail across Lake Erie, through the beautiful Detroit River, past Detroit, past Belle Isle, across pretty Little Lake St. Clair, and up the picturesque St. Clair river to Lake Huron, skirting Georgian Bay on the Canadian side, thence across the lake past countless beautiful islands and up the ever lovely St. Mary's river, through the locks of the "Soo" and into Lake Superior—northernmost of the Great Lakes.

After a cruise in Lake Superior the vessels return through the "Soo" and round through the Straits of Macinac, stopping for half day or more to enjoy the beauties at Macinac Island, the most beautiful and popular island resort of the Great Lakes. Here visits may be made to the big hotels, fort, pretty drives in the elegant parks and the numerous amusements. It is a real beauty spot. Leaving Macinac Island the party sails southward the full length of shimmering Lake Michigan to Chicago, second largest city in the United States.

A night and day would be spent in Chicago, where splendid entertainment would be provided, including a 25 mile tour of the city, over the noted boulevards, through the lovely parks, old world's fair grounds, shopping district, with visits to the mammoth stores and numerous places of note. The party then would leave on the delightful return trip, traversing the entire lake, past Macinac, down through western Lake Huron and over the ever-beautiful route from thence to the starting point and back home.

By day most of the cruise is made near lovely isles and shore and by night the glorious moonlight would add to the enchantment of the cruise.

Luxurious Liners.

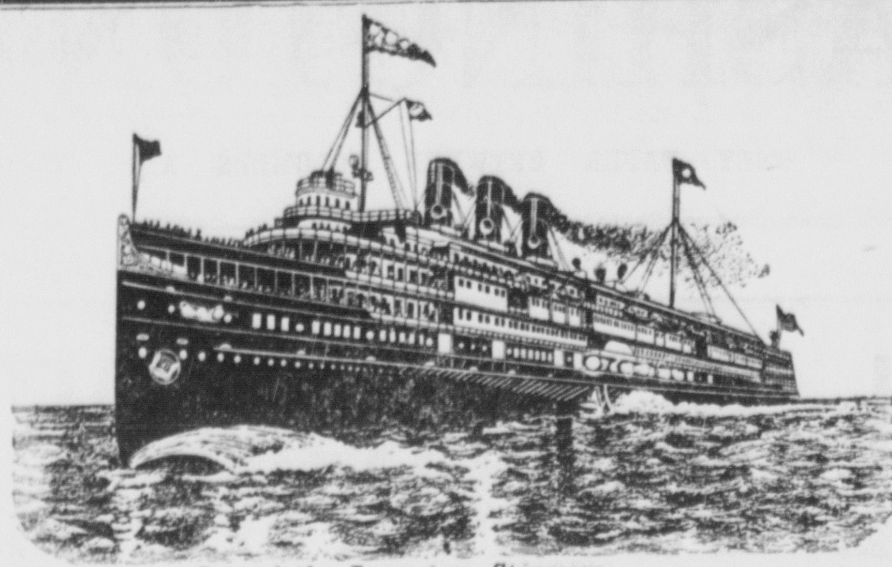

The two magnificent liners, North American and South American, are the greatest and most luxuriously furnished of any on the Lakes, and carry no freight. Options have been taken on the boats for two weeks, the Dahl-Campbell party making the first trip and Moneypenny-Hammond Branch the second week.

Each of the big liners is allowed by the government to carry 3500

passengers, but only 500 will be placed on each vessel so that all may enjoy every luxury and comfort that one could wish. There will not be a dull moment aboard the boats or during the entire trip.

Six times around the promenade deck and one has walked a mile. The spacious dining room accommodates all at two sittings, and a meal is served in 45 minutes. Every state room is an out side room. There are five decks for passengers, mammoth ball room, full orchestra, cozy lounging rooms, children's play room. Each boat has a crew of 152, carries 300 tons of coal and burns 60 tons daily. Ice plant and refrigerating plant on each boat. Water filtered and sterilized. Equipped throughout with sanitary drinking fountains containing ice water. Special engines which eliminate vibration. No rock to boat and no seasickness. There are entertainment halls with special programs provision for card parties, dancing and other amusement with experts in charge. Wireless equipment in perfect working order. Only boats on lakes having girls to wait table.

Children To Go.

Provision will be made for taking children five to twelve years of age at half fare, so that entire families may enjoy this most delightful and greatest of all lake trips.

Special Trains.

As usual special trains will be used in transporting the big party of customers and consumers from various points in the district to the starting point on the lake.

Trip Will Be Free.

The trip will be free to customers purchasing a certain amount of goods, and to consumers who save labels from the popular brands of "Sweet Brier", "American Beauty" and "Red Bird" goods, and who may pay part in cash should sufficient labels not be secured. All are urged to begin now and save labels. However, many of the consumers who were parties to the memorable trip this year are already saving labels for the peerless lake trip of next year. Tickets will be on virtually the same basis as last year provided ing satisfactory arrangements for the trip are closed. This will be determined in September.

Easy Trip To Take.

The trip outlined and conducted as the firm always conducts its outings, could be taken by a child without difficulty, as all baggage is looked after, expenses paid, and in fact everything done to relieve one of tiresome details. The trip will be easy and restful as only such a trip can be.

Patrons Delighted.

A few patrons who have learned of the great trip planned by Mr. Campbell for next year are very enthusiastic over the prospect of such an inviting and pleasurable outing, and are unstinted in expressing their appreciation of his choice. Not only does the trip offer a week of genuine enjoyment and real happiness, but it is one of great educational value and will also be of more restful nature than any previous trip.

Only those who have been on the Great Lakes can appreciate the meaning of such a trip, where no scorching weather is encountered, but where there is an invigorating breeze which puts care and weariness to flight and at night brings refreshing and restful slumbers to all.

HUNT BUILDING IS PURCHASED ADD HARDWARE DEPARTMENT WILL ERECT NEW STRUCTURE

Dahl-Campbell Branch Closes Three Big Deals and Will Have Entire Block of Buildings With Nearly 200,000 Feet of Floor Space for Wholesale Business.

EACH OF 5 BIG DEPARTMENTS EQUIVALENT TO HUGE STORE

New Hunt Block to Be Used for Complete Line of Jobbers' Hardware—New Building 64 By 165 Feet to Be Erected—To Handle Auto Accessories

Simultaneously with announcing that the Dahl-Campbell Branch has purchased the big three-story Hunt block adjoining the firm's main building, comes further announcement of the company's intention to erect a modern structure 64 by 165 feet on the corner lot south of the Hunt block, and the addition of a new hardware department carrying a full line of jobbing hardware and also a complete line of automobile supplies and accessories.

The magnitude of these big deals becomes apparent when it is known that the square footage of floor space will be increased from 109,100 at the present time to upward of 200,000 square feet of floor space, giving abundant room for the rapidly growing firm to add the new department, and enlarge the present departments and marking a new epoch in the enterprise of the firm.

The purchase of the R. C. Hunt building gives the firm a half block front on Main street, and a similar amount of ground west of the alley back of the main building, all being covered with buildings except the corner lot recently purchased and which formerly was the Imperial Hotel site but has been unoccupied since the great fire which swept that portion of the city Dec. 30, 1911.

The Hunt block is a fire-proof structure, 56 by 165 feet, and has three stories and basement, the second floor being occupied by the Elks who it is understood, will not be disturbed.

Proper connections will be made between the new building and the present quarters, and also under the new building to be erected, so that continuous passage may be had under all buildings, as well as through all buildings. The newly purchased building will afford tens of thousands of square feet additional storage room.

It is understood the mammoth line of hardware to be placed in stock will occupy this big structure.

The New Building.

The new structure to be erected in the very near future will join the newly purchased block on the south, front on Main street and be immediately north of the Pennsylvania station and freight depot.

It will be modern throughout and fire-proof. The basement will be used for storage purposes, the first floor for garage purposes, and the floors above will in all probability be used for a great line of automobile supplies and accessories, so that dealers may find what they desire in short order.

The entire structure is to be carefully planned and every facility added to make it complete in detail.

In the garage the numerous monster delivery trucks and trailers

which the firm recently has added to its facilities for accommodating its customers at all points, will be kept and cared for when not in use, and the numerous machines of the traveling men also will be sheltered and cared for in the completely equipped garage.

A railroad switch will be constructed along the south side of the building and another switch extended running between the Hunt building and new building, offering every facility for handling goods both incoming and outgoing.

Complete Hardware Stock.

In adding the hardware and all that goes with hardware to its huge stock, the Dahl-Campbell Branch takes a great forward step which is expected to meet with the hearty approval of all customers, and it is the fifth separate and complete department. The other departments are Groceries, Notions, Fruits and Confectionery.

It is the plan of the management to make all departments still more complete than ever before, and to have the largest and best stock of hardware of any wholesale hardware house in central Ohio.

This stock will be kept thoroughly up-to-the-minute and like the other departments, will be in the hands of competent men, and men who know hardware.

Five Big Stores In One.

It is Mr. Campbell's plan to make each department a big wholesale house in itself and by combining the five departments under one head eliminate heavy overhead charges and thus sell to the retailer at rock bottom prices.

New Salesman.

Mr. Charles Householder, formerly with the Ballard-Ford Hardware Company has been employed as traveling hardware salesman of the firm.

Main Building Dahl-Campbell Branch With Part of Newly Purchased Hunt Building on Left Which Will Be Devoted to New Hardware Department. New Building Will Be Erected on South Side of Building Just Purchased.

The Eight-hour Day

The fact, developed in the present acute disagreement between the railroads and their employees, that the eight hour day is not universally observed by all the railroads, comes as a surprise to a great many people.

In many states of the Union the eight hour day is recognized and established by law and, now days, the employers who insist on a longer working day than eight hours are the exception.

In the states where no legislation on the subject exists, established custom has fixed the working day at eight hours with a certainty attaining, practically, the dignity of legislative enactment.

The employees of the railroads from the highest to the lowest post of duty should not be overworked. The nervous strain to which they are subjected makes them peculiarly and particularly a class to which should be extended every aid possible to consistent work.

The value of property entrusted to their care totals billions and every hour in the twenty-four of every day in the year the lives of millions of people depend upon their alertness and upon the proper discharge of their duty. For an engineer, fireman, conductor, brakeman, crossing watchman, gate tender, or switchman even the common laborer who taps the car wheels with a hammer at the division stations, to sleep or become inattentive to his work is a danger to the lives of those who travel.

It is amazing, when we come to consider it, that the railroads, in view of the existing legislation and established custom, should insist on arbitration of that point in the dispute. Other disagreements, such as wage, can very properly be left for settlement to arbitration, but public sentiment, public demand, public custom and legislation have fixed the hours of the day of work at eight.

It is really astonishing that the railroad companies ever allowed that matter to enter into the controversy at all.

War and Diplomacy

One of the most remarkable situations developed by the war in Europe is the declaration of war by Italy against Austria, while diplomatic relations existing between Italy and Germany remain unsevered and apparently as cordial as they were prior to Italy's entrance in the conflict.

So far Italy has confined its campaigns against Austria and has sought only the invasion of Austrian territory and clashed only with the troops of Emperor Francis Joseph.

There are thousands of German soldiers battling with the Austrians and there are hundreds of German officers in charge of Austrian troops, but by some fine spun diplomatic operation and contruction of international law, peaceful relations have been maintained between Germany and Italy.

The attacks of Italian armies against the Austrians have deprived Germany of the great assistance, which Austria, freed from these attacks, would be able to render her ally and thus, almost directly, is Italy arrayed against Germany.

The active participation of Italy in the Balkans offensive now launched will doubtless bring on a clash between the troops of Italy and the troops of the Kaiser.

In the Balkans, Germany's armies are engaged under the standards of the empire, they are not there as mere soldiers in the armies of another nation, but as German army units.

How Italy can be of assistance to the Allies in the Balkans without clashing with Germany seems impossible now.

The keen diplomacy which averted the declaration of war by Italy or by Germany seems now about useless.

The results thus far accomplished, however, are proof of how nations can avoid war if they desire to do so.

Summer Colds

One of the, seemingly, inexplicable ills to which humans are heir during these protracted hot, dry spells, is a summer cold.

Right now there are a great many people suffering from summer colds—the prevalence of the malady has attained almost to the dignity of a small sized epidemic in this section.

Just how and where anyone can "catch cold" this sort of weather is a mystery which sweltering humanity would like to have solved.

The general understanding is that "colds" come from draughts of cool air. Perhaps that is not the correct theory, according to recognized medical authorities. To express it more emphatically, perhaps our good friends the physicians would stamp that idea as the purest nonsense.

Well, be that as it may, there are thousands of people, hereabouts, who have been searching diligently for draughts and cool spots for several weeks now and the only thing they have succeeded in "catching" was a cold and in catching cold they have no recollection of passing through any cool places or noticeable draughts.

But no matter what causes a summer cold, whether the common understanding or medical theory is correct, about the most annoying ailment of the hot spell is a cold in the head.

The hot weather is enough, in itself, to drive one distracted and when one is compelled to add the tortures of a cold, it's small wonder that many angelic dispositions are strained almost to the point of giving away.

Poetry For Today

MEMORIES.

Then come his sister and his village friend
And he will now the sweetest moments spend.
He goes through shrubby walks these friends among
Love in their looks and honors on their tongue;
Nay, there's a charm beyond what nature shows,
The bloom is softer and more sweetly glows;
Pierced by no crime and urged by no desire
For more than true and honest hearts require.
They feel the calm delight, and thus proceed
Through the green lane,—then linger in the mead,—
Stray o'er the heath in all its purple bloom,—
And pluck the blossom where the wild bees hum;
Then through the broomy bound with ease they pass
And press the sandy sheep-walk's tender grass.
Where dwarfish flowers among the grass are spread
And the lamb browses by the linnet's bed;
Then 'cross the bounding brook they make their way
O'er its rough bridge—and there behold the bay!
The ocean smiling to the fervid sun
The waves that faintly fall and slowly run—
The ships at distance and the boats at hand;
And now they walk upon the sea-side sand,
Counting the number, and what kind they be,
Ships softly sinking in the sleepy sea.

Valparaiso, Ind.—Muskrats seem to have conspired in the Kankakee region against the automobile and within two days caused the wreck of three cars just south of Kouts. The muskrats burrow under the gravel on the roads, and the cars break through.

The attention of the county commissioners was called recently when a Chicago man, who left no name, appeared here with one arm in a sling. His car, containing himself, wife and daughter, turned over, he said, at the same point where two other cars were upset. One woman suffered a broken arm in one of the accidents.

Making the Little Farm Pay

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

Owners of small farms have taken up the question of beef production. There is a decided movement in favor of meat animals in the central west, and the educational effort now going forward is bound to have a good effect.

This is a profitable branch of farming in more ways than one. Meat values are on such a high basis that farmers can more than double their money on beef where they raise their own stock. Beef raising disposes of fodder and grain to the best advantage, keeps up soil fertility and adds a large cash income to the revenues of the farm.

"I saved $7 on every calf I raised for the baby beef feed lot last year," said L. D. White of Union county, Ia. "Besides, they had more quality, more ability to lay on fat and more feeding capacity than any I could buy."

The owner of a small farm who has equipped his place with a silo and established a field of alfalfa can profitably handle a carload of beef cattle every year. If he cannot breed so many on the place he is always able to buy calves from dairy farmers in the neighborhood. The aim at first should be to produce a carload of marketable stock. Where the farm is 100 to 200 acres there is nothing to hinder the owner raising two or three carloads in a year, but it is best to set the mark at one load for the first season. This branch of business requires a little experience, just as everything else does.

With this program adopted a farmer starting out in beef production should try to prepare a lot of top notch animals that will average 1,000 pounds at the age of twelve to fifteen months. If the right kind of stock is used and there is good success in fattening, top figures in the market will be secured. The careful manager will soon find that he can produce the first 1,000 pounds of beef much more cheaply than he can add to this weight. My observation shows that the real profits are in marketing beef animals at an age not exceeding two years. This is turning over the money pretty fast, and by making it a rule to market the stock at an early age one can afford to govern the selling by the tone of the market.

As farmers gain in skill they will find it an easy matter to furnish a fine quality of baby beef. This is accomplished by the selection of suitable calves and a wise system of feeding. No point in the business is more important than that of starting with the right kind of young stock. Then it is only a question of forcing growth by skillful handling. Men who have dairies are able to secure a uniform bunch of young animals, as a rule, but if they fall short of the required number in starting a beef herd with uniformity they will always be able to find native stock to meet their needs. Generally speaking, it is unwise to bring in feeders. Young stock shipped from remote points cost more than they are worth these days, and the transportation units them for maturing rapidly. They don't begin to measure up with stock that gets its start in the neighborhood. A little observation of the market will astonish many farmers who do not know the demand for high quality baby beef and the profit there is in supplying it.

The small farmers of the central west only need to look into the matter of concentrated feeding to realize that they are able to take advantage of the high prices for meat animals. It will pay to restrict the pastures and depend more on alfalfa, silage, roots and concentrated feeds. More can be accomplished on a farm of 50 to 100 acres than is generally understood. The problem is one of management. The opportunity is one of the most attractive that American farmers have ever had presented to them. If they believe in diversity and in business farming one of the first steps they should take is to engage in beef production up to the full capacity of their land.

Korea's Diamond Mountain.

Kongosan, known among foreigners by the name of Diamond mountain, is an extraordinary cluster of innumerable peaks in the east-central part of Korea. It is part of a great mountain range forming the backbone of the Korean peninsula and stands in the northeastern part of Kangwon province. The system is about fifty miles in circumference, occupying an area of more than twenty-five square miles. The peaks, reputed to number 12,000, are entirely formed of granite and tower high in the air, with dense forests on their sides and at their base. All the peaks are extremely rugged and grotesque in form, and it is impossible to scale many of them, as they rise nearly straight into the sky, while their slippery sides furnish no foothold.

A Mixed Metaphor.

A professor of English in a western college was once criticizing the following lines from Campbell's "Ye Mariners of England":

The meteor flag of England
Shall yet terrific burn,
Th' danger's troubled night depart
And the star of peace return.

"The star of peace," he pointed out, "could not 'return' after night had departed," for stars, as a general rule, do not shine during the day.

"If you were struck hard enough between the eyes you would see stars any old time," suggested the witty member of the class.

"That is quite true," replied the professor, "but it would not be the 'star of peace.'"

WATER SUPPLY IS VERY SHORT IN THIS CITY

Company Management Orders All Street and Lawn Sprinkling Stopped at Once Until Drought Is Passed—Plan for Abundant Supply Next Year.

In a published notice to the public, The Washington Water Company calls attention to the shortage of the city's water supply and the necessity of abolishing all street and lawn sprinkling and stopping all leaking faucets in order that there will be sufficient water for ordinary use, and the company further states that the new order must be observed until the drought is relieved and the torridity becomes less.

For several weeks the water supply has been dwindling and this in the face of efforts to obtain a greater supply than that of previous years, so that the management has devised a plan which has been approved by the State Board of Health, for constructing a new and larger dam across the creek and holding a large reserve of water above the wells of the company, so that the supply may be abundant at all times. The water in the creek, of course, would be filtered through the earth and sand to the various wells, just as it does under ordinary conditions.

At the present time the creek is very low above the dam, and the amount of water filtering from it is exceedingly small. With the ever increasing demands of the city, and the heavy excess usage due to intensely hot and dry weather, the demands have been coming so close to using the entire supply that drastic measures were necessary on the part of the company to insure sufficient water for ordinary use.

Citizens are now looking to the Water Company to have its plant prepared for such an emergency next year. Dry periods during the past few years has found the company not able to furnish an abundance of water for all purposes.

The company expects the new dam and additional wells will solve the problem for several years to come.

COOLER WEATHER REFRESHING RAIN

There was a drop of 32 degrees in the temperature between 4:30 Tuesday afternoon and 4:30 Wednesday morning, and the change was a delight to everyone. The mercury hovered above 90 degrees Tuesday afternoon.

The cooler weather started late in the afternoon and with showers in surrounding territory, the mercury continued to drop and reached 66 at midnight and 58 at 4:30 Wednesday morning.

Not only did the cool wave come but it brought a most refreshing rain during the night.

The cooler weather is expected to last for several days. Rains are also expected in that time.

MANY WATCH WORK OF BULL TRACTOR

Quite a crowd of interested farmers assembled at the Fred Hamm farm on the Robinson road, Tuesday and Wednesday, to watch the Bull Tractor gang plow at work, with Adam Hamm & Son of Chillicothe in charge.

The plow turns two fourteen inch furrows and moves along steadily regardless of the hard, dry soil, interesting all who saw it with its power and rapid work.

It is stated that it requires about 60c worth of gasoline and oil to plow an acre of ground in ordinary condition.

The tractor gang plow is now being used extensively on the larger farms and there is every reason to believe its popularity will increase rapidly.

ANOTHER ENJOYABLE OPEN AIR CONCERT

Another thoroughly enjoyable band concert was given by the Washington band, Tuesday evening and a large crowd assembled for the entertainment.

The weather was perfect, an invigorating western breeze making the evening one of the most comfortable in two months, and adding to the enjoyment of the concert.

As usual the band received hearty applause and was commended for its good work.

Mr. Lee Rodgers again favored the listeners with a pleasing cornet solo and responded to an encore.

BOARD MEMBER TO MEET LOCAL MEN

As result of a visit to Columbus, this week, by a committee of the Fayette Fish & Game Protective Association, Dr. Kurgan, of Cincinnati, member of the State Board of Agriculture will meet the association in this city in the near future and it will be determined whether the prosecutions against ten men charged with illegal fishing will be pushed or dropped.

At the present time the Fayette Association almost to a man favors prosecuting the ten men, believing that such action should be taken to protect the finny tribe in Fayette streams.

However definite action will be taken at the meeting within the next ten days, and the matter which has been pending for several weeks will be disposed of one way or the other.

INVEST IN WASHINGTON REAL ESTATE

Washington Real Estate Dealers Point Out Why Now Is a Good Time to Invest.

One of the leading real estate firms of this city states that already there are strong indications of increased activity in real estate matters in Washington C. H. and Fayette county this fall. They put it in this way.

"The present high prices being paid for all the products of the farm, with indications of still higher prices in the near future, surely means that Fayette county, one of the greatest corn producing counties in the United States, to say nothing of the other splendid crops she produces, is bound to remain a most desirable spot for investment in lands.

"And Washington C. H., as the county seat of this rich agricultural county, must prosper and develop along with the county. Her railroads and streets, many of which are now being permanently improved; her public school system, churches, lodges, factories, business places and beautiful homes, are sure to continue to make this city one of the safest and most desirable places for rental investments and the ideal place in which to live.

"Any little letting up of the assured growth of this city must, in the very nature of things, be only temporary, and it seems to those on the inside that soon again we will see a new spirit of growth take hold of our city. We have in the past few years practically outgrown all our neighboring cities of similar size.

"There never was a better time for those who have a few hundred or a few thousand dollars laid by for safe investment to invest in Washington C. H. property than right now. Prices are reasonable and there are real bargains obtainable. Many families will move to this city within the next few months.

PAINT STREET IS GIVEN A SWEEPING

Late Tuesday evening some two score or more residents of Paint street between North and Delaware streets, got busy with brooms and shovels removing the layer of sand which the contractors had sprinkled over the paving while the grouting was "green," so that when the street is opened this week the passing vehicles will not stir up the fine sand into clouds of dust as on some of the other newly paved streets.

In a remarkably short time nine-tenths of the street had been cleared of the sand. Most of those who have not removed the sand will probably do so within the next 24 hours.

MEDICAL WATERS AT MADISON MILLS

There is a sulphur spring on the Harrison pike immediately west of Madison Mills which is attracting considerable attention because of the medical properties of the water.

The spring, which a few years ago was given a concrete curb at the expense of the county, is at the edge of a small stream, and because of the medical waters it contains, is a much visited spot, and a number of persons from this city make one or more trips each week for a supply of the famous water.

Those who use the water claim that it is as beneficial as some of the most famous sulphur waters.

NOTICE TO CONSUMERS

The continued hot weather and drought has so curtailed the water supply that The Washington Water Company finds it absolutely necessary to suspend all sprinkling privileges until the condition is relieved. Waste of water by running taps will also have to be stopped in order to give domestic and sanitary service. These measures are imperative.

AN EQUINE HERO.

Story of Old Baldy, One of the Most Famous Horses in History.

The head of one of the most famous horses in history hangs mounted on a shield in the headquarters of George G. Meade post in Philadelphia. It is that of Old Baldy, General Meade's mount in the operations of the armies of the Potomac and Virginia. The horse was raised in the west and was brought east by Colonel E. D. Baker of Oregon, who was killed at Ball's Bluff on Oct. 21, 1861. General Meade bought him in Washington for $150.

The horse was wounded in the nose by a piece of shell at the battle of Bull Run on July 21, 1861, but was not put out of service. He served at Dranesville, Mechanicsville, Gaines Mills and Groveton and was wounded again at the second battle of Bull Run, on Aug. 30, 1862, when he was shot through a hind leg.

Two weeks later he was ridden at the battle of South Mountain, and on Sept. 17 he was shot through the neck at the battle of Antietam and was abandoned, apparently dying. He was afterward found by General Meade's servant browsing on the battlefield. He had recovered sufficiently to serve General Meade in the October and November campaign to Falmouth. In 1863 he was at Chancellorsville during the first three days of May and at Gettysburg on July 1, 2 and 3. He was shot through the ribs on July 2.

He was in three other engagements that year, and in 1864 he was in the Wilderness campaign at Spottsylvania, North Anna Creek, Cold Harbor, Petersburg and several other places where there was hard fighting.

At the end of the war he was taken to General Meade's country place near Philadelphia, where he remained seven years. He was led in the great parade in Philadelphia on Dec. 16, 1879, in honor of General Grant's return from his tour of the world. He was later given to John J. Davis of Jenkintown, who cared for him until it became necessary to kill him because he became too feeble to stand. This was on Dec. 16, 1882. He survived his famous master about ten years.—Philadelphia Ledger.

When Cats Were Sacred.

Scientists consider that the cat was introduced originally into Egypt from the south and that the credit of domesticating it belongs entirely to the inhabitants of that country. It is fortunate that the cat found its way into Europe at the time of the Roman supremacy, which, like other polytheistic systems, was in religious matters at least tolerant. Had it been confined to Egypt till the iconoclastic intrusion of the Moslems it might have been extirpated as a pagan object of worship. The Egyptians seem to have kept their cats in vast inclosures, and it is perhaps a trait of heredity which causes them to remain so faithful to a house in which they are domesticated. Whenever a house caught fire the chief care of the neighbors was to save the cats. The men and women might be burned in the ruins, but the cats were to be saved at all risks. When a cat died a natural death every inmate of the house shaved his eyebrows, and when a dog died they shaved all over.—Chambers' Journal.

An Accent That Survives.

The cockney has survived for many centuries in the midst of speech that is deemed more cultured. It is a curious fact that in the Bahama Islands, which were settled more than 200 years ago by Londoners, the cockney speech is as strong as it is in Chesham.

In Social Circles

On Tuesday evening, August 22nd the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Craig was the scene of a pretty and quite wedding which united their charming daughter, Carrie, to Mr. Charles Kelley Knight, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Just at twilight Rev. Gage led the bridal party in to the strains of the Lohengrin march played by Mrs. J. B. Rogers. The double ring ceremony, beautiful and impressive, was used.

Only the family and a few intimate friends were present.

The fair-haired bride was most becomingly dressed in white georgette crepe over silk with trimming of taffeta and silver lace.

Her traveling suit was of navy blue taffeta.

The bride is a graduate of Washington High school and later a student at the Ohio University, at Athens, where she became acquainted with the groom.

She has been a faithful and efficient worker in the Presbyterian church and Sunday school, and will be greatly missed by the many friends who extend best wishes for happiness and prosperity in the new home.

The groom is a graduate of Ohio University, class of 1912, and received the degree of Master of Arts from the same institution in 1913. He later attended the graduate school of the University of Illinois, as a student in economics.

During the past year Mr. Knight has served as an instructor in economics in the Pennsylvania State College; he at present holds a similar position in the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, with the Academic rank of Instructor.

Mr. and Mrs. Knight left Tuesday evening for a lake trip, after which they will make their home in Philadelphia.

The pretty Stokesbury bungalow on the Waterloo pike was the scene of a very attractive musicale Tuesday afternoon when the only daughter of the house, Miss Roberta, made her debut as a young vocalist, assisted by Miss Frances Blackmore, reader, and Miss Ruth Reid accompanist.

The favored guests thoroughly appreciated a beautiful program taking special interest in the young singer who has been studying but a year under Miss Jessie Leavell.

Miss Stokesbury has a sweet clear soprano of real promise and has done a great deal with it during the short time of her training. Not only is the quality and range exceptional; she sings with temperment and offered to her guests a pleasing surprise.

Miss Ruth Reid did her always admirable work as accompaniment and Miss Frances Blackmore showed her ability in entertaining, readings.

The following program was given (a) Caro mio ben Giordani (b) Bird Lullaby Sanderson (c) My Jacqueminot Johnson

Miss Ella Hess entertained a few former friends of Mrs. Wallace Murfin, who with her daughter Miss Margaret, is visiting here from her home in Philadelphia, Pa., at an informal, but thoroughly pleasurable little affair, Tuesday evening.

The guests greatly enjoyed renewing acquaintance with Mrs. Murfin and also meeting her very pretty daughter.

A dainty summer collation was served.

Miss Gertrude Powell of Mt. Vernon, was also an out of town guest.

Twelve couples of the junior set were indebted to Miss Maxine Kibler, the attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Kibler, for delightful entertainment Tuesday evening.

Dancing and contests furnished diversion and merriment held high revel throughout the evening.

Miss Helen Baker won the prize in a sandwich contest.

A tempting buffet lunch was served and punch all evening.

Mrs. Kibler and Miss Jessie Sunkle assisted in the evening's hospitalities.

The fortnightly Guild of the Presbyterian church was charmingly entertained at the Manse Wednesday afternoon. Entertaining with Mrs. Gage were Mesdames W. W. Millikan, J. L. Rothrock, G. W. Blakeley, Fannie P. Ballard.

BURTON ACORD IS ARRAIGNED

Burton Acord, aged about 24 years, was arraigned before Mayor Oster, Wednesday afternoon, upon a charge of uttering a forged check with the name of T. J. Junk signed to same, and passing the check at the Junk & Willett Hardware store in this city.

The young man was decidedly nervous over the affair, but entered a plea of not guilty and asked for a private talk with Chief of Police D. L. Moore, which was granted.

Marshall S. A. McNeal, of Frankfort and Mr. T. J. Junk of Austin were present. McNeal stated that he had arrested the young man upon complaint of Miss Martha Junk, of Frankfort, to whom he is alleged to have presented a forged check for $19, but which he did not have when arrested. He was released by Marshall McNeal after failure to find the check.

Mr. Junk exhibited three forged checks, one to "Carl Wilkins" for $25, cashed by Junk & Willett; one to "Fred Wilton" for $20, cashed at the Ford Hardware Company, and the third to "Frank Wolf," cashed by the Wissler Hardware Company of Chillicothe.

Acord's trial was set for Friday afternoon at one o'clock.

ASSIGNED TASK TO EIGHT MEN

Reply to Wilson Plan to Be Drawn Up.
AGAIN AT WHITE HOUSE

Three Members of the Committee Following Conference See the President and Go Over the Rail Situation—Tendency Shown to Delay Negotiations—Developments at the Capital.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Eight railroad presidents were named to draft the reply to the railroads to President Wilson's appeal that they accept his plan for averting a nation-wide strike. The eight committeemen held a prolonged session without solving their problem. Later three of the committeemen, Hale Holden of the Burlington, R. S. Lovett of the Union Pacific and Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio, discussed the situation with President Wilson. They were at the White House for more than an hour, and on leaving declined to talk about their visit further than to say they had asked for the conference to "discuss the general situation" and expected to see the president again.

Although some of the sixty or more presidents are showing a disposition to prolong the negotiations in the hope that the sentiment of the business men of the country will be shown to be opposed to the idea of an eight hour day, there is a general feeling that a definite answer to President Wilson's demand can not be much longer postponed. The president is understood to have indicated that he desired his proposal to be fully debated by the executives, but their conferences among themselves have failed so far to develop any plan likely to win approval.

So far as the presidents would discuss the situation, they still are insistent upon an arbitration of the eight hour day and all other issues with their employees. As the conferences continued there was less talk of action which would lead to a strike, but some of the executives are expected to fight to the last ditch any plan which would force an eight hour day upon the roads without some form of arbitration.

It was understood the White House conference did not develop any actual plan, but that the three executives wished to get President Wilson's views on various phases of the matter so that they could be outlined to the rest of the committee. The executives are said to realize that Mr. Wilson can not recede from the position he has publicly taken, and some of them are convinced now that about all they can hope for is to come out with some concessions.

Among the more than 600 representatives of the railroad brotherhoods in Washington there is evident a feeling of restlessness and there are many inquiries of leaders as to how long they must remain. It is not expected that this feeling will lead to any open revolt unless the conferences between President Wilson and the executives are prolonged.

TWO MINISTERS

(By American Press)
Washington, Aug. 23.—William G. Sharp of Ellyria, O., ambassador to France, arrived here, exactly two years from the time he left to assume the duties of his ambassadorial office. It is considered significant that Walter H. Page, ambassador to London, is here at the same time. Messrs. Sharp and Page had a long conference at the Shoreham hotel.

A party that had luncheon together at that hotel included the two ambassadors, Sharp and Page, Secretary of War Baker, Secretary of State Lansing, Secretary of Interior Lane and Attorney General Gregory. It is generally believed that some important conferences are staged to take place here bearing on the European war, but everybody concerned declines to talk. When asked how long the war probably would last Ambassador Sharp said: "That is entirely problematical, and no one seems to be in a position to know."

ARMY BILL REPASSED BY HOUSE

Revised Articles of War Are Eliminated.

BILL RUSHED TO SENATE

Military Committee to Restore Articles of War and Strike Out Hay Proposal to Exempt Retired Officers and Men From the Military Code. General Debate in Senate On the Emergency Revenue Bill.

Washington, Aug. 23.—The army appropriation bill, carrying $314,000,000, was repassed by the house without the revised articles of war, a feature which caused President Wilson to veto the measure.

The bill was hastened to the senate and there referred to the military committee.

Chairman Chamberlain announced that the committee would restore the articles of war, eliminating the Hay proposal to exempt retired officers and men from the military code, the provision objected to by the president. If a point of order is made and sustained against the articles in the senate, Senator Chamberlain will seek to retain them by a two-thirds vote.

Representative Hay has let it be known that he will not insist again upon his amendment. There are reports, however, that Republican Leader Mann may demand a quorum of the house to send the bill back to conference. Such a development might prolong the session of congress several days.

With Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, submitting figures designed to disprove Republican charges of Democratic extravagance, and Senator Smoot, Republican finance expert, asserting that the Democratic party should be convicted of attempting to procure votes under false pretenses, general debate on the $205,000,000 emergency revenue bill began in the senate.

Insisting that national defense preparedness and the Mexican situation were altogether responsible for the necessity of special revenue legislation and a proposed bond issue, Senator Simmons declared Republicans in congress had clamored for even greater expenditures for defense, and, having done this, were seeking partisan advantage by making false charges of Democratic extravagance to the public.

Senator Smoot, opening the Republican assault on the revenue bill, said if the Democratic party was to be retained in control of the government the country would suffer "an era of unqualified extravagance, combined with inefficiency unsurpassed." His attack was supported by Senator Curtis, who asserted that the burden of taxation should not be placed on the American people and that revenues should be raised by a protective tariff.

SPEAKER URGES CATHOLIC UNITY

Would Bring Into Public Life Spirit of Tolerance.

New York, Aug. 23.—Catholic voters throughout the United States were urged at a mass meeting of the German Roman Catholic Centralverein here to unite and cast their influences at the polls "where it will best subserve the high and holy principles" for which Catholics stand.

James F. Zipf, president of the Gonzaga Union of St. Louis, who made the appeal, declared there were at least 3,000,000 Catholic voters in the country. Mr. Zipf asserted he was not contending for a religious party, but for an organization of Catholics to bring into public life a spirit of liberty and toleration.

A resolution demanding that at the end of the world war the pope "be heard in the council of the nations for the securing and cementing of a permanent peace" was passed by the American Federation of Catholic societies at its convention.

A resolution passed by the Catholic Young Men's National union called upon members "to act as a unit in taking up preparedness," urged them to communicate with representatives in congress "in the effort to bring about real preparedness."

At the women's session Bishop P. J. Muldoon of Rockford, Ill., urged about 200 delegates to join every state, county and city civic movement in their communities.

DEMY LEADERS FIX THE DATE

Platform Convention to Reconvene September 7.

Columbus, Aug. 23.—The new Democratic state executive committee, meeting here with Chairman W. L. Finley, tentatively fixed Sept. 7 as the date for the reconvening of the Democratic state platform convention.

Chairman Finley was authorized to change the date if by so doing there is a chance to secure the presence of President Wilson at the convention. When War Secretary Baker recently invited President Wilson to attend the convention here the president said he would be unable to be present. Members of the committee were greatly disappointed when this information reached them. They planned to open the national and state campaign simultaneously in Ohio, with a speech by the president as the opening gun.

WILLIS ORDERS PROBE MADE

Will Sift Franklin County Tax Muddle to Bottom.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, O., August 23.—Governor Willis, in a telegram from Maine, where he is making campaign speeches, today ordered the State Tax Commission to probe the charges that the Franklin County Board of Revision had arbitrarily raised the taxes of the citizens of Columbus and Franklin county.

The state tax body immediately began an investigation.

County Auditor Valentine announced today that he would repudiate the alleged wholesale taxation boost and decline to place them on the duplicate.

It has been charged that the county board has arbitrarily raised the valuation on personal property, in some instances more than 50 per cent.

Governor Willis' telegram said that such increases as are alleged to have been made were not in harmony with the spirit of the new Parrett-Whittemore tax law, and that if any injustice had been done by the board it should be corrected.

There has not been a single case of typhoid, the prevailing ailment being dysentery.

DEFOE IN THE PILLORY.

When the Famous Writer Was Both Punished and Applauded.

The whipping post had as its companion 100 years or more ago, not in this country, but in England, the pillory. This punishment was ended by an act of the British parliament, dated June 30, 1837.

Perhaps the most famous sufferer at the pillory was a man who has delighted millions of English speaking boys and girls and many older persons by his book, "Robinson Crusoe," which was the precursor of juvenile books as we now know them. This sufferer was Daniel Defoe, who was not only a writer of entrancing fiction, but famous as a keen political pamphleteer.

In 1703, in the reign of Queen Anne, there came from his hand "a scandalous and seditious pamphlet," entitled "The Shortest Way With the Dissenters." A reward of £50 was offered by the government for the author, and, rather than that his printer and publisher should suffer in his stead, Defoe gave himself up and was sentenced to be pilloried three times.

On July 29 of that year the daring satirist stood unabashed on the pillory in Chespide. The punishment was repeated two days afterward in the Temple, where a sympathizing crowd flung garlands instead of garbage at the stout hearted pamphleteer, drank his health with loud acclaim and sang his "Hymn to the Pillory." In this hymn occur these lines:

Tell them the men that placed him here
Are scandals to the times;
Are at a loss to find his guilt
And can't commit his crimes.

Water Colors.

Pigments have been used from the earliest times and are now used by all savages for decorative purposes. But the paint used in Babylon and Nineveh and in Pompeii was composed of pigments mixed not with oil, but with water to which had been added a little glue, egg albumen or perhaps sometimes casein, which is albuminous matter from milk or the gluten from cereal grains. Glue, however, which was well known to the ancient Egyptians, was the most used binding material. Such paints are now known as fresco paints or water colors.
